that he enjoyed playing the American game of football and that he enjoys very much playing English Rugby, Donald Grant Herring, a graduate of Princeton university in the class of 1907, the first Rhodes scholar to make the Oxford university Rugby team, has written a letter, published today in The Dally Princetonian, the college newspaper, which gives an explanation of the main polisis of Mayor and likewise compares the injuries of the past season. Herring was a forward on the Oxford Rugby team which beat Cambride last fall by the racted considerable attention by his athletic as well as social attainments. The Tattler, a leading English journal of society and sports, not long ago cartooned Herring as Sandow, because of his powerful physique, and pkewise commented on the fact that he is the first Rhodes scholar to be elected to the Myrmidon club, evincing his popularity at Oxford. The Oxford publication—The Varsity—contained recently an open letter to Herring reviewing his eareer at Princeton, where he won the intercollegiate heavyweight wrestling championship as well as a position on the varsity football teams of 1905 and 1906, and complimenting him on his success at Oxford at hammer-throwing, cricket, hockey, football, as well as seholastic work.

In his letter to the Princetonian today, Herring says of the question of danger in football:

"There can be no doubt whatsoever that Rugby is not nearly so dangerous as the American game, I make due allowance for the softer playing fields in England and for the fact that games are generally cancelled if the ground is frost-bound or too slippery. But, in a season more than twice as long, with a much larger playing body, the serious injuries at Rugby are not more than 4 per cent of those at the American game. This is a conservative statement of opinion from which I will not recede. I remember hearing of one death this season. At Oxford, the biggest forward on the varsi

WATER POLO EXPERTS WHO ARE PLANNING FOR SEASON WHICH OPENS SHORTLY.

New York, Jan. 19.—The fight for the water polo championship this season promises to be one of the most interesting ever held in the east. Several teams that were weak last season have been greatly strengthened by the addition of last year's new swimming material. The championship will be decided by a series of dual meets. The league members are Columbia, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Harvard, City College of New York and Yale. At a recent meeting in New York the Inter-

the board—is to count five points. There is little doubt that Yale and Princeton will make a great bid for the championship. Both teams are very strong this season. In Capt. Richards Yale has one of the greatest all round water polo players in the country. He will play center on the Eliteam. Princeton has two cracks in Karl Woehr and Capt. Bamman. The former has been selected as goal tender and the latter as a center by the Tiger team.

FRENCH AVIATOR MAKES RECORD TRIP Louis Paulhan Travels From Field to

"Lucky" Baldwin's Ranch, 23 Miles And Returns in Safety. Aviation Field, Los Angeles, Cal., Jan

percs here consider the most remarkable cross-country flight in history.

On the wings of a wind that the other aviators hesitated long to face, the little Frenchman rode from Aviation field to "Lucky" Baldwin's ranch, 22 miles away, circled the old Santa Anita race track and bucked his way back to his tent.

track and bucked his way back to his tent.

In all he covered an estimated distance of 47½ miles in 1 hour, 2 minutes and 24-5 seconds. He went down with the wind in 30 minutes and came back against it in 33 minutes, leaving off the odd seconds. When he climbed out of his car he said that his motor was as cool as when he started and that he could do the trip over again at once. In sheer beauty and contempt of danger, the flight rivals that seen on any of the aviation fields of the old world. The only test approaching it in this country was that made by one of the Wrights last fall, flying with an army officer from Washington to Alexandria. Bleriot, Latham, Farman and Cody have made flights nearly as long, perhaps, but they have not come back. Cody flew 40 miles at Aldershot in 63 minutes last fall. Farman took a 20-mile run to spend a day shooting with a friend, but he landed at one end of his journey.

run to spend a day shooting with a friend, but he landed at one end of his journey.

President Cortland F. Bishop of the Acro club of America said tonight that he did not know of any flight equal to Paulhan's. It is probable that the prize of $10,000 will go to him.

There will be a good deal of official pondering and cabling, however, before a new world's record is added to the glory of France.

Paulhan maintained an altitude of from 1,000 to 2,000 feet on his way over the valley. His highest point was 2,120 feet, as indicated by the instrument.

Under him, speeding over the country roads, scattering chickens and dogs helter-skelter, were automobiles and men on horseback and motoreycles, trying to keep near the machine, in the event that Paulhan should fall or have to descend. Mrs. Paulhan was in an automobile praying and crying.

CROWD GROWS WILD.

CROWD GROWS WILD.

CROWD GROWS WILD.

When Paulhan reached the grand stand on his return he was mobbed. The crowd broke through the barriers. The aviator was lifted up and borne over the field as a football hero would be treated after a Harvard-Yale game. His own countrymen kissed him and wept in joy. This event was the only thing of great importance in the day's meet. Curtiss did not go into the air until after Paulhan had been away for half an hour. Then he gave a pretty exhibition of fancy starting and retired.

Despite the wind, Paulhan rose to the occasion. He came over the heads of the crowd and pointed the flat nose of his big plane toward the mountains. It was 3:00 o'clock.

"He's off for the cross-country record of the world," announced the megaphone man.

of the world," announced the megaphone man.

For 10 minutes he flew onward and upward, straight toward the snow line of the Sierra Madre range. Old Baldy peak was the compass point. If lay in shining white relief against the greenish sky behind it. Through the glasses he could be seen rising over the haze and taking a canon trail, as it looked, to the summit. Soon he disappeared from all sight of those on the field.

At 4 o'clock there was a great short some one had seen the alrship again. Soon it came into sight, blown from its outward course, and on a line with Mount Wilson. The aviator had struck a milder current in the high siltiude and was coming home on this. Soon he was over the field and settling gently. The rush began. The Frenchman stepped stiffly out of the saddle and asked for a cligar.

MORE TROUBLE FOR N. Y. CUSTOMS SERVICE

New York, Jan. 18.—More trouble in the customs service in New York came to light tonight. Everybody around the federal building is reticent but disclosures may bare a system which will rank with the sugar cases. Undervaluing automobiles is the new game. Joseph P. McGrath, a young customs clerk, is specifically charged with having defrauded the government out of $450 by deducting $1,000 from the value of a car that arrived in New York Nov. 26. The machine, according to the appraiser's certificate report, was valued at $1,850, but McGrath, it is alleged, altered this to read $850. The duty on automobiles is 45 per cent ad valorem. McGrath was held in $1,000 bail for examination next Tuesday.

Asst. United States Dist. Atty. Walton, who had charge of the prosecution, said there would be "senastional developments."

THE DIFFERENCE

ccess in the collection business is Success in the collection business is very much like success in any other calling. It is the result of years of study, experience and special training. The starters in a race all look alike, yet one will win. The world is full of those who come in second at the home stretch. There will always be plenty of seconds. Of the collection agencies in business in Salt Lake City when the merchants formed this association in 1892, how many remain? when the merchants formed this asso-ciation in 1892, how many remain? Have you ever thought of it? It's the difference. This association collects more honest debts than any other col-lection agency in the world. It will collect more this year than any pre-vious year. If you turn in your claims it will collect some for you. No mat-ter what kind of a claim you have if it can be collected we can do it. We collect in every state in the Union and in all foreign countries.
